Biography

Robert Glennon is widely recognized by his clients, peers, and outside publications as a leading "go-to" practitioner for complex problems.

Over the last four decades, he has been involved in major legislative initiatives involving federal taxation, financial services, land conservation, and energy. If it's a difficult, complex problem for sophisticated clients, Robert is there.

He is a master of the "Four Ps" of a legislative project: policy, process, personalities, and politics. Robert proudly serves on the Hogan Lovells legislative/governmental affairs team. For more than 40 years, he has provided innovative, strategic solutions to the complex legislative and regulatory issues faced by some of the world's leading private equity, investment banking, insurance, hedge funds, and asset management organizations.

He has also successfully navigated similar complex issues faced by the portfolio companies of private equity firms, including federal income taxation legislative and regulatory issues, as well as banking/financial services, land and water conservation, energy, commerce, insurance, housing, and transportation.
