

Investment Products and Services

The financial sector is a hotbed of product innovation. It is also the focus of complex and ever-increasing regulation. Whether you want to create new products or add features to existing ones, we will guide you through the legal and regulatory challenges often associated with innovative financial solutions.

The way that firms provide services to clients is also rapidly evolving. Robo-advice and FinTech are changing the shape of the financial industry. At Hogan Lovells, we keep in step with the latest market developments to provide you with cutting-edge advice.

Come and ask us whether you can test your products in the FCA's regulatory sandbox.
