

Shipping Finance

The world of shipping is truly global in nature. It's constantly changing against a backdrop of fluctuating demand trends and finance availability, uncertain shipyard capacity, and greater environmental regulation. Against this backdrop, our team advises clients on an extensive and varied range of international transactions.

Whether advising on the financing of individual vessels or portfolios of vessels, or as part of a corporate acquisition or reorganization, we are equally familiar with standard financing techniques and more structured solutions (e.g., involving project finance, capital markets and/or securitization know-how).

We have advised on financings for the full range of vessel types — from offshore oil and gas (tankers, LNG, FPSO, rigs, and support vessels) to bulk carriers, ferries, cruise, super yachts, container, dredging, and other vessels.

Our clients include operators, charterers, funds, banks ship builders, and government sponsored institutions.
